THE JUNE WEATHER

103 INCHES OF RAIN FELL DURING JUNE.

THE DRIEST IN 21 YEARS

The Last Five Days the Temperature Has Been 100 and Over—103 Today.

The driest June in twenty-one years closed last Friday night at midnight with a total rainfall of 1.03 inches of rain in thirty days. The normal fall for June in Missouri is 48 inches. In the twenty-one years that the government has kept ball reports the closest to the in 1892, when we had a rainfall of 1.38. The following is the rainfall for June for the past ten years: 1901, 4.9; 1902, 7.7; 1903, 2.45; 1904, 3.93; 1905, 3.35; 1906, 4.27; 1907, 7.12; 1908, 9.59; 1909, 9.76; 1910, 3.19; 1911, 1.03. These figures were obtained from J. R. Brink, weather observer for Maryville.

June was also a bluster as to temperatures. On the 26th the mercury soared to 100 degrees. Also on last Thursday and Friday it was 100.

On Saturday, July 1, the thermometer registered 102, on Sunday 103, and on Monday 103.

The highest June in the twenty-one years the records have been kept was in 1901, when the mercury was to 101.

But take it in July of that year is where you find your hot weather.

Commencing on July 9, 1901, the temperatures were as follows up to July 25, when it went up to 107: July 9, 102; July 10, 103; July 11, 101; July 12, 104; July 14, 103; July 15, 103; July 16, 102; July 17, 99; July 18, 97; July 19, 102; July 20, 105; July 21, 105; July 22, 106; July 23, 104; July 24, 107; July 25, 104.

The highest average temperature for June is this year.

Curbitt & Matter Have Sold Out.

Curnutt & Matter have sold their real estate and insurance business to Bickett & Son, who live about four miles northeast of the city. They took possession at once.

Clarence Charles Very Ill.

Clarence Charles, a well known farmer, about 40 years old, living ten miles southwest of Maryville, was brought to St. Francis hospital Monday morning in an ambulance by his physician, Dr. Leslie Dean. He has been sick about two weeks, but a few days ago he became paralyzed and is now in a serious condition. Mrs. Charles came with her husband and will remain with him at the hospital.

Returned to Galesburg.

Mrs. E. B. Husted, who has been the guest of Miss Clara Sturm for the past ten days, left for her home in Galesburg, Ill., Monday. Mrs. Husted was formerly Miss Annie Klaas of Parnell.

MRS. MASTERS DIED SATURDAY NIGHT

Mrs. Woodford Masters passed away at 11:45 o'clock Saturday night at her home, 703 East Third street, after an illness dating from March 23, when she was stricken with paralysis at the home of Mrs. S. T. Gile, and was removed to her home the following day. Mrs. Masters had improved some and was able to sit up in a chair, but the excessive heat of the last week was so weakening that she could not withstand its weakening effect.

The funeral services will be held at the home Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Lee Harrel of the First Baptist church. Burial in Miriam cemetery.

Mrs. Masters was a daughter of the late Dr. W. P. Moore, who was a well known physician of this city. Her mother and three sisters live in St. Joseph, one sister, Mrs. Anna Phillips, and a brother, George Moore, live in Texas, and another brother, Dr. Ed T. Moore lives in Oklahoma. Mrs. Masters is also survived by her husband and a daughter and a son, Miss Frankie Masters and William Masters, both living at home.

60 PEOPLE SICK WITH PTOMAINE POISONING

Sixty people living in Skidmore and near that town are suffering with ptomaine poisoning, having attended an ice cream social Friday evening at the Burr Oak Grove church, four and a half miles northwest of Skidmore. Dr. J. E. Pierpoint and Dr. Lee of Skidmore were called and nearly all of them were better Monday. There are two cases that are very bad, Miss Ruth Wright and Floyd Barrett.

Miss Walter Coulter of Arkoe was in Maryville Saturday.

Miss Alice Orcutt visited in Bole over Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Clark.

J. H. Neuns of Salt Lake City, Utah, is visiting in the city with relatives. Mr. Neuns arrived Saturday.

Miss Leona Badger spent Sunday at her home in Barnard.

Arthur McAnulty of St. Joseph is visiting in the city for a few days.

COALITION ENDED

INSURGENTS AND DEMOCRATS IN CONGRESS PARTED COMPANY.

$100000 TO PUT ONE OVER

The Cost of a Senator Scientifically Figured Out as the Result of the Lorimer Investigation.

By VAN CLEVE.

Washington, D. C., June 30.—The close of June finds congress without a quorum. Many of the members in the nearby states and some of those farther away could not resist the temptation to join their families and friends in doing honor to the glorious Fourth. The employees under an economical administration will have to content themselves with such fireworks as may be observed in this city and the pyrotechnics at the north end of the capitol. The insurgents are furnishing a continuous fusillade over there now.

The coalition between Democrats and insurgents came to a sudden termination, as all expected. The only way to continue it was for the Democrats to agree to surrender all claim to the ownership of the reform measures before the senate from this time forward and surrender further patronage to the insurgents. The Democrats could retain speaking and voting interest in the bills, but the insurgents must adopt them, amend them, and when passed, be permitted to go back to the people and assert their title to them. This proposition was promptly turned down, and with the bills now before the senate the merry war is on with the insurgents on the firing line. Incidentally the prospects of adjournment are improved. Every senator knows now perfectly well how he is going to vote on every one of the bills. The Democrats will do but little talking, being anxious to hasten a vote. The standpatters have given up and conceded that the reciprocity bill will pass, and that being the case they don't care how it happens. They, too, will have but little more to say. That puts it squarely up to the insurgents, and there is no evidence that they can hold out half as long as they threatened. Senator Cummins has spoken several times this week, as has Senator Borah, and they are nearly out of ammunition. Senator LaFollette can be counted on for about four days on anything from a tariff on cocoanuts to an investigation of the lumber trust's connection with the north pole. Then Senator Bristow will have to be heard and the giant crackers will have been exploded. The others will be short in comparison.

This indicates that an early vote will be reached on the reciprocity bill and that it may be followed by early votes on some of the other bills before the senate.

No bets, however, should be placed on any prophecy in connection with the United States senate, for all the kaleidoscopic contrivances ever produced to accomplish quick and unexpected changes are not in a class with it.

The Lorimer investigation is in full blast and is doing much to convince the public that there should be a change in the method of electing senators. It is bringing forcibly to view the methods being employed by the great capitalists of the present day to "protect" their interests. Manufacturers used to go before congress and plead for protection for their infant industries. Now the giant aggregations of adult industries go into the market and select and send to congress, whenever they can, their own representatives. When they get a sufficient number of them they do not have to ask for favors; they simply dictate their wants and they are promptly complied with.

The Payne-Aldrich law was written schedule by schedule by favored interests, and the old protective idea has degenerated into a mere scramble for spoils. It may cost a hundred thousand dollars "to put one over," as has been testified in the Lorimer case, a million, as has been shown in another notorious instance, but what care they for expenses? Mr. Hines, the lumber king, who is sorry that he boasted about "putting Lorimer over," testified yesterday that a few years ago he was a poor clerk in a lumber yard in Chicago; now he owns 60 per cent of the stock in a corporation whose assets are millions upon millions.

A prominent merchant a few days ago remarked that the silk schedule of the present tariff law was written by a certain silk manufacturer of New York, and that on a certain kind of silk which has no competition in Japan or elsewhere the duty was so increased that the direct result has been that, with the cost of production practically the same, the wholesale price has been increased from 49 cents under the Wilson bill to 77 cents per yard under the present law. This firm makes thousands of yards per day, so that with an increased profit of 28 cents per yard it is easy to see what the difference means to them on this one item alone.

The investigation, although in progress but a few days, has drawn some men in high places into unpleasant notoriety, and has developed enough conflicting testimony to warrant Senator Kenyon in saying that some one should be tried for perjury.

An example of how protection benefits the American workingman is found right in the capitol building, where so many tears have been shed for it and so many touching appeals have been made in its behalf. I notice that some of the furniture is imported. The cane seat chairs, for instance, in some rooms were made in Vienna, Austria. The duty on cane seat chairs is about 35 per cent. Furniture factories are plentiful in those states that send so many high tariff exponents to congress, yet some of these gentlemen have been patronizing the "pauper labor of Europe" in preference to the American workmen who helped to send them here.

The capitol corridors have been filled for weeks with pleasure seekers and sightseers, and the official guide is reaping a harvest that amounts to dignified proportions. It is a common thing to see a flock of twenty or twenty-five future greats, sweet girl graduates, proud parents and newly wedded trailing after a portly gentleman at twenty-five cents per head. All hands march to the center of a room and form in a circle around a halved spot marked by a stray piece of tile in the floor and then follow something like this: "This, ladies and gentlemen, is the exact spot where a great-great-grandson of Patrick Henry slipped on a banana peel and shattered his equilibrium, etc." All look knowingly at one another and with fear of disturbing the sacred memories, tip toe on to the next place, where something equally blood curdling is related.

In the streets there are numerous auto busses that carry two or three dozen at a load, and get a dollar and a half per head for the trip around the city. A deep voiced individual sits at the head of the bunch and gives every one $10 worth of information and entertainment besides the ride. Everything here is done with autos—drays, delivery wagons, ambulances, etc. Only the fewest number can afford horses.

HIS WIFE, EVEN HAD DESERTED HIM

After having been "rooted," hooted and hanged with seat cushions by some ten thousand disgusted fans at the game, and escorted from the grounds by the protecting police, the base ball umpire sprang on a passing street car and made for home. Not until he was safe inside his own door did he draw his first untroubled breath of the afternoon. Then he threw himself into a chair at the supper table.

"Well, here I am, out of sight, hungry," he growled. "Get me something to eat."

"I don't know whether you've earned any supper," was his wife's amazing retort. "I was at that ball game today!"

CIRCUIT COURT ADJOURNED TO WEDNESDAY

Circuit court was in session only a few minutes this morning and adjourned until Wednesday morning on account of the court stenographer, Harry Irwin, being unable to work today. The Linebaugh will case will probably be finished on Wednesday and will be given to the jury.

PROGRAM FOR FOURTH
AT NORMAL PARK

From 11 to 12 tomorrow morning exercises are to be held at the Normal grandstand for the Fourth. An address is to be given by Dr. J. S. Ford on the "Cosmopolitan Patriotism." The rest of the program is a short address by E. E. Bird, a Normal student; a declamation by James Farrar on "The Spirit of 1776;" a reading by Prof. Harry Miller of the department of public speaking; music by the Normal Glee club, under the direction of Prof. P. O. Landon.

The Normal building will be open to the public from 12 o'clock noon to 5 o'clock.

CITY WATER SUPPLY IS GETTING LOW

Manager Roseberry said Monday to representative of this paper that the city water supply is getting very low, as the river is the lowest it ever has been. The water will give out in a few weeks or so unless we have rain before that time. The City Water company thinks it might be well for the people to be careful about the use of the city water.

KUCHS IN CHARGE OF EMPIRE THEATER

Albert Kuchs assumed charge of the Empire theater Monday, as William Burtz's lease on the theater had expired. Moving picture shows will be continued at the theater.

Brought Him to Hospital.

Clarence Charles, living nine miles southwest of Maryville, was taken to St. Francis hospital Monday morning for treatment by his physician, Dr. Leslie Dean.

S. D. Davison of Clearmont was in Maryville Monday on business. He was accompanied by his sister, Miss Belle Gray, who has been visiting him. Miss Gray left Monday evening for her home in Northern Oklahoma, near Honeywell, Kan.

Mrs. Mary Shannon of Guilford returned home Monday from a business visit in the city since Thursday. She was the guest of her brother, Richard McMullen and other relatives.

Miss Betty Gross of Union Star, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Simpson, returned to her home Monday.

Mrs. Charles Dean and daughter, Clevia, of Burlington Junction, are the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Leslie Dean and Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Dean.

Mrs. J. H. Aley left Monday for Falls City, Neb., to visit her cousin, Mrs. Jack Wilson.

CAAME TO MEET
FLORIDA VISITORS

Mrs. Anna Andrews and son, Clair Andrews, of Enid, Okla., arrived in Maryville Monday noon and will be guests at the home of Mrs. W. W. Jackson of South Main street and other friends for several days.

The visitors came at this time to meet Mrs. Andrews' father-in-law and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Andrews of Chipley, Fla., who are here visiting their son, W. W. Andrews, and family, living three miles southwest of Maryville, and Mrs. Andrews' sister, Mrs. W. W. Jackson. They will go from here to Red Oak, Ia., to visit their daughter, Mrs. John Baxter, formerly Miss Carrie Andrews of this city, and later to Pueblo, Colo., to visit another daughter, Mrs. Luther Stratton, also formerly of Maryville.

To Take Trip to the East.

Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Clark and little son of Chillicothe are in Maryville for a few days' visit. Mr. and Mrs. Clark will leave the last of the week for a month's pleasure trip to the east, going by way of Chicago and then by boat to Buffalo. They will also visit New York, Washington and many other places. Their little son will remain in the city with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Clark.

Returned from Wyoming.

Dr. Vilas Martin and W. R. Smiley returned Monday from a few weeks' outing and fishing trip in the region of Cody, Wyo.

Dr. Rolla Allender of Boone, Ia., is in Maryville for a vacation visit with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Allender, and his brother, Dr. Lafe Allender.

Mrs. J. H. Woodburn and little son, Maurice, of East Fourth street, and her sisters, Miss Bertha Hale, a student at the State Normal, visited in Barnard over Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hale.

Bessie and Annie Ashford, the little daughters of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ashford of Pickering, are visiting at the home of their grandfather, W. D. Ashford, living just north of the city.

Mrs. S. M. Smith and son of Pickering visited in Maryville over Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Townsend and her sister, Mrs. Edward T. Godsey.

Miss Nancy David and Miss Hetty Loomis of Ravenwood came to Maryville Sunday and will be guests of Miss David's cousin, Mrs. S. T. Gile, until after the Fourth.

Mrs. A. Robinson and daughter, Miss Jennie Robinson, of Clearmont, arrived in the city Monday and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Snodderly.

Edward Eversole and his sister, Miss Esther Eversole, arrived in the city Monday noon to spend the Fourth at the home of their uncle, D. R. Eversole.

Mrs. C. J. Eads and daughter, Miss Permelia, went to St. Joseph Monday to spend the Fourth.

Dick Reece, Bruce Martindale, J. H. Gattan and Louis Brant of Clyde were in town Monday.

Rev. Father Anselm spent Monday in St. Joseph on business.

Miss Minnie Reece of Elmo is the guest of Miss Velma Gray.

The counties with claims against the good road funds of the state have nobody but Governor Hadley to blame for not getting their money. The legislature made ample provisions for paying these claims, but the governor swung his axe, and the counties are left with the bag to hold. For instance, Monroe county has a claim of $9,423.70 against this fund, but the way Hadley has fixed the matter up it will get only $218 of it this year. The governor's hobby is good roads—cross state highways on paper for advertising purposes only. That is, he is for good roads just like he is for home rule—talks for it until he gets it, then kills it with his veto.

EARTHQUAKE IN SAN FRANCISCO

Two Dead and Number Injured
as Result of Shock.

PROPERTY DAMAGE IS SLIGHT.

Two Shocks of Trembler Felt Lasting
More Than Twenty Seconds—Small Panic at the Theaters—Large Buildings Shaken Out of Plumb.

San Francisco, July 3.—Two men are known to be dead and several injured as the result of an earthquake which visited San Francisco, the worst since the memorable quake of April, 1906. There were two violent shocks, quick in succession, lasting more than twenty seconds.

So far as known no serious damage was done in San Francisco other than falling plastering and the breaking of many plate glass windows.

Herbert Hadley was so badly frightened that he died in an ambulance while being taken to the Emergency hospital.

Emil Anderson, a barber, who was brought to the hospital for the possible fracture of the skull, died a few minutes after the trembler, which snuffed out the slim chance for life that he had before.

The Academy of Science building on Market street is leaning forward more than a foot from its original position, as a result of the quake. The Marine Trust and Savings company's building is also reported to have been moved by the shock.

Panic at the Theaters.

A small panic occurred at several of the theaters, people scrambling over each other in their haste to get out of the buildings.

Robert Dawson, a waiter, had his arm badly gashed when he ran into a plate glass window in trying to escape from the Buckingham cafe. He was taken to a hospital and is said to be seriously injured.

At the printing plant of the Hick-Judd company several girls became hysterical and one, Mamie Garrity, had to be taken to a hospital after several other girls had prevented her from jumping from the top floor of the building.

Practically all of the clocks in the city were stopped as well as elevators.

The Palace hotel, which was opened less than two years ago, suffered slight damage. A large crack may be seen high in the new building on the Market street front. The Flood building, the Postal Telegraph building, the Pacific building and scores of others were either cracked or shaken out of plumb.

The main postoffice building was badly damaged and several of the employees were slightly bruised and otherwise injured by falling plaster from the ceilings on the different floors.

BENCH WARRANTS FOR TWO

State Department to Aid Burns in Bringing Kaplan and Schmidt Back.

Washington, July 3.—District Attorney John D. Frederick of Los Angeles was a visitor to the state department and had a conference with Secretary of State Knox.

The object of the conference was to enlist the aid of the state department for Detective W. J. Burns, who went to England a couple of weeks ago on the trail of David H. Kaplan and Milton A. Schmidt, wanted in connection with the Los Angeles dynamite outrages.

Mr. Frederick was assured of the hearty co-operation of government officials and that the assurances were meant in earnest was evidenced by the fact that bench warrants for the arrest of the men wanted were issued by the London authorities and all the resources of the English police will be at the disposal of Burns in locating and arresting the men he wants.

Fall of Scaffold Fatal.

Monticello, Ia., July 3.—Two killed and two badly injured is what it has cost in lives and broken bones to partly build a large barn on the Peter Kirk farm. Following the tragic death of the carpenter, who was killed last week, a scaffolding fell forty feet with three workmen. John Featherstone, aged seventy-seven years, was killed and John Kinney and Will Golden, his fellow workmen, were badly injured.

A Patriot's RIBBON

By CAPTAIN F. A. MITCHEL

WHEN the war of independence came on, New York's position had changed from that of pipe smoking patriots to comprise many people of refinement. It was then that that society on which Alexander Hamilton and Aaron Burr shone ten or twenty years after was forming. People had begun to use silver on their tables instead of pewter and social dinners were quite pretentious.

One Nicholas Van Schoonhoven, a wealthy citizen, built in his house in the village of Greenwich (long since a part of the city of New York) a vault in which to store his valuable tabby ware. It was located in the second story in a hallway running past his own bedroom. Van Schoonhoven was a patriot, and when in the struggle for independence the British occupied New York he moved to Westchester county, some fifteen or twenty miles up the Hudson river, within the American lines commanded by young Lieutenant Colonel Aaron Burr. Before the evacuation he returned to the city to be near his real estate, leaving his movable valuables in Westchester county.

Edith Van Schoonhoven while in Westchester met a young Lieutenant in Burr's regiment, Charles Robertson, and the meeting had resulted in a love match. The separation when she went back to the city was very trying to a pair of lovers aged twenty-two and nineteen respectively. Though but a few miles apart, they were still very far. Robertson stood the separation a month, then putting on a countryman's clothes and carrying a large basket containing butter, eggs and other farm produce he set out for New York.

At King's bridge, a wooden structure spanning Spuyten Duyvil creek and connecting Manhattan Island with the mainland, he found the British pickets. His farm produce passed him, and he walked to the southwest, crossing diagonally what is now Central park and made toward the Hudson tower down till he came to the village of Greenwich. As he was crossing a field where the Columbus monument now stands one Peter Oldershaw, a rabid Tory, saw and followed him. Unaware that he was watched, Lieutenant Robertson knocked at the door of Nicholas Van Schoonhoven, showed his basket of produce and was admitted. This Oldershaw saw and straightway walked down to Bowring green, where he found General Howe, to whom he reported the fact. The general sent a small troop commanded by a sergeant to capture the young patriot, whom he did not doubt had come into his lines for the purpose of spying.

Charles Robertson and Edith Van Schoonhoven were sitting together in the parlor, where they could look out on the broad Hudson, when they saw a dozen redcoat troopers dash up and surround the house. For a moment Edith was paralyzed; then, suddenly gathering her faculties, she seized her lover's hand, ran with him upstairs and, opening the vault door, thrust him in, closing the door after him, locking it and putting the key in her pocket. She was too excited to think of his being smothered, but fortunately a small ventilator had been left over the door.

When the sergeant entered Edith had recovered her equanimity so far as to meet him with a well feigned look of surprise on her face and invited him to search the house. Not finding any one, he left the premises guarded by his men and rode to General Howe. Howe, believing that the lieutenant was there, sent Captain Sawyer with his company to relieve the sergeant and to take up his quarters in the house, keeping it surrounded.

Sawyer, who was a young London swell, at once began to make love to Edith. She found it somewhat difficult to feed her lover, since she had no way to do so except through the ventilator, and, having to stand on a chair for the purpose, she dared not transatlantic food when the captain was in the house for fear of his catching her at it.

One night when the bell on Trinity church, far away on the lower end of the island, struck 1 Edith arose from her bed, put on a dressing sack, went to the vault, unlocked it, let her lover out, took him up to the third story and locked him in an unused room. Then, going down to Captain Sawyer's room, she knocked at his door, calling to him that she had been frightened by a huge black cat that had got into the house and asking him to drive it out. "Don't trouble yourself to put on your clothes," she said: "use this." And, opening the door a few inches, she dropped a double gown of her father's into the room.

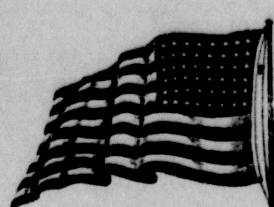

Sawyer arose, put on his boots and the double gown, seized the only weapon handy, his sword, and went out into the hall. There he found Edith, apparently very much frightened. She had lighted a candle and conducted him along the hall to the vault, whose door stood ajar.

"There—the horrid thing went in there!" she almost shrieked.

Sawyer boldly entered the vault. In a second he heard a click behind him. He was a prisoner.

Running to the room where she had left her lover, Edith released him and lighted him to Sawyer's apartment, where the Yankee put on the Britisher's uniform, went downstairs and

Dr. Edward T. McDowell left Monday evening for his home at Okmulgee, Okla., after a ten days' visit in Maryville with his mother, Mrs. John McDowell, and sister, Miss Stella McDowell, and at Burlington Junction with his family. Mr. McDowell was called here by the illness of his children, who came two weeks previous with their mother to visit Mrs. McDowell's mother, Mrs. William Walker at the Junction. Their little daughter has been very sick with malaria fever, and the little boy has had several attacks of asthma. Mrs. McDowell will leave in a few days with the children for Colorado, where they will remain the rest of the summer for their health.

Was With Sick Daughter.

Mrs. E. J. Mendenhall of Barnard returned to her home Saturday evening, after a stay of some time with her sick daughter, Mrs. Guy Ridlon, living southwest of Maryville, who is at present in St. Francis hospital, where she was operated on Thursday night for appendicitis.

MRS. T. P. SHONTS ASKS SEPARATION

Has Papers Served on Former Panama Canal Head.

Paris, July 3.—Mrs. Theodore P. Shonts, wife of the president of the Interborough Rapid Transit company of New York city and of other railroads, has caused papers to be served on her husband in a separation suit, according to G. Archibald, an attorney who is now in this city, and says he has been retained by Mrs. Shonts and is in consultation with her at the home of her daughter, Duchess de Chaulnes.

Archibald refused to discuss the details of the disagreement of Mrs. Shonts with her husband, but was particular to specify that the proceeding was not a petition for an absolute divorce, but was merely for separate maintenance and freedom from marital obligations.

Misses Mollie and Lou Henderson spent Sunday in Barnard with their cousin, Mrs. Sarah Chiser.

Mrs. A. J. Anderson of Grand avenue has returned from a visit to her old home in Blandinsville, Ill.

HEAT IS TRYING ON FAT STATESMEN

Hot Weather Interferes With Legislation at Washington.

FIX DATE FOR COTTON REVISION

Rainey of Illinois to Be a Teacher, Bringing Samples Into House and Giving Descriptions of Cloth as Set Forth in Tariff Bill.

Washington, July 3.—"How many pounds have you lost?" That is the question which has superseded the inquiry concerning the probable date of vote on the reciprocity treaty in Washington since the hot wave struck the national capital.

It is said President Taft weighed just before he left for Beverly, and the scales showed him ten pounds lighter than he was two weeks ago. The president is said to have seriously considered postponing his trip to his summer home when he realized his lessening waist measurement.

Vice President Sherman, Speaker Champ Clark, Senator Boise Penrose, Ollie James, Postmaster General Hitchcock and practically all of those statesmen who are inclined to emphasize are finding compensation for the work and the fearfully hot weather is slowly contracting waist lines.

Southern Men Stand Heat.

The Democrats bear up under the heat better than the Republicans, most of the Democrats coming from the south and being acclimated to the heat as it were. In fact, the house Democrats are actually planning as though they were thoroughly contented to stay on through the whole summer. For instance, when they bring in their revision of the cotton schedule to the house, they intend to start a school of instruction for the benefit of Republicans and Democrats alike.

Representative Rainey (Ill.) will be one of the teachers. Rainey proposes to bring cotton samples pasted on cardboard with the official description of the cloth as set forth in the tariff bill, indicated below it.

In addition the information will contain the rates of duty imposed upon this cloth under the Dingley and Payne laws, and under the proposed Democratic revisions. This method of illustration was practiced by the Republicans in the senate in the 1909 tariff debate. Rainey may have some extra samples with him for general distribution among the members in order that they may follow his arguments.

Estimating Amount of Revenue.

As to the revised cotton schedule itself, the Democrats now have experts in the treasury at work estimating the amount of revenue certain proposed rates of duty will produce. They have finished the actual bill except for the insertion of these rates.

If the present plans of the Democratic leaders are carried out, the cotton revision bill will not reach the house until the second week in July. If the bill is completed in time it may be possible to hold a party caucus on it the latter part of this week.

In all probability it will take about ten days' time to pass the bill through the house. Meanwhile the Democrats will busy themselves with the sugar and steel schedules, with the intention of bringing them before the house later if the senate persists in its present rate of legislative progress.

CANDY ENDS MUTINY

Officials of California Reformatory for Girls Bring About Order.

Whittier, Cal., July 3.—Chocolate candy and oranges played an important part in ending the mutiny which broke out in the state reformatory for girls here. Ten pounds of chocolate candy and a cartload of oranges caused the seventy-six girls who composed the mutiny to surrender their arms, following a rebellion which left them in almost complete charge of the school. However, eight of the leaders of the mutiny are in the county jail here.

The girl rebels claim the rioting and mutiny was due to poorly cooked food and inhuman treatment on the part of the management.

Officials of the reformatory, however, say the trouble was started by a recent arrival at the institution who, when she attempted to escape, was locked up. Much furniture and many windows of the institution were smashed by the riotous girls.

ROOSEVELT HARVESTS HAY

Crop Is Good, With Enough for Himself and Perhaps Some for Neighbors.

New York, July 3.—Brown as a berry, with callousness on his hands and the scent of new mown hay about him, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt looks every inch a farmer these days. He is getting in his hay crop at Sagamore Hill, directing the work in person, doing his full share of it, and incidentally having the time of his life.

If the colonel is taking any interest in politics, public affairs or anything except his hay crop, he is keeping it to himself, for he declines to discuss anything else for publication. He will make hay enough to supply his own needs and may have some left to sell his less successful neighbors.

EUGENE F. WARE PASSES AWAY

Dies Suddenly from Heart Disease at Cascade, Colo.

WITH FIRST IOWA IN CIVIL WAR

United States Pension Commissioner Under President Roosevelt—Gained Fame by Verses Under Pen Name of "Ironquill."

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 3.—Eugene F. Ware, "Ironquill," the famous Kansas poet, United States pension commissioner under President Roosevelt, and one of the best known lawyers in the west, died suddenly from heart disease at Cascade, Colo.

In addition to his widow, Mrs. Jeanette Ware, and daughter, Miss Amelia Ware, the only members of the family with him in Colorado, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Neiss of New York city and Mrs. Ralph Nelson, who lives in Idaho. A married son, E. F. Ware, Jr., recently gave up the practice of law to settle with his father on his big farm near Fort Scott, Kan. The body will be taken to Fort Scott, where the funeral will be held.

Eugene F. Ware was born in Hartford, Conn., May 29, 1841, and when young moved to Iowa with his parents. When nineteen years old he joined the First Iowa volunteer regiment on the day Fort Sumter was fired upon, and served throughout the civil war. He was mustered out as captain of the Seventh Iowa cavalry. After the close of the war Mr. Ware moved to Fort Scott and later went to Cherokee country.

After being admitted to the bar he returned to Fort Scott, where he began to practice. He moved to Topeka in 1893. He served five terms in the Kansas senate and was appointed commissioner of pensions by President Roosevelt in 1902. He resigned two years later. As "Ironquill" Mr. Ware became famous for short poems.

TAFT NAMES CHARLTON JUDGE

Father of Porter Charlton Gets Judicial Office in Porto Rico.

Washington, July 3.—Paul Charlton of Nebraska was nominated by the president to be United States judge for the District of Porto Rico. Judge Charlton has for many years been connected with the state department, recently being law officer of the bureau of insular affairs. Judge Charlton, it is said, was originally appointed to the office while a resident of Omaha. He was a classmate of President Taft at Yale in 1878. In making this appointment and crediting the same to the state of Nebraska the president did not consult Senator Brown or any member of the Nebraska delegation.

Judge Charlton is the father of Porter Charlton, now in custody at Hoboken, N. J., upon the charge of killing his wife at Lake Como, Italy.

CRUSADE AGAINST TRUSTS

President Taft Confers With Wickham on the Situation.

Washington, July 3.—The indictment of the officials of the wire trust is simply the beginning of a crusade on the part of the government law officials which will result in the criminal prosecution not only of the officials of the steel trust and its subdivisions that have violated the law, but of all other trust officials against whom sufficient evidence to warrant criminal proceedings can be secured.

This is the belief of those circles in Washington which are best qualified to know the views of the administration.

It is said on high authority that President Taft before his departure went over the whole situation with Attorney General Wickham and the two agreed that the only way to enforce adequately the Sherman law was to enforce its criminal provisions.

WINE AGING FOR H.S. FUNERAL

Aged Missouri Man Will Give Mourners an Enjoyable Time.

Pittsburg, Kan., July 3.—Robert Dunn, an aged resident of Minden, Mo., just across the state line, is preparing to die. Just when he will "shuffle off" he doesn't know, but he has written his epitaph, arranged with a neighbor to bury him and made his will, leaving his neighbor his property for performing the last offices. Incidentally, Dunn, several years ago, bought a cask of wine which he is aging for the mourners. This cask will be carried to the grave with his body and after the burial it is to be opened for the mourners to drink.

Bombs Folk for President.

St. Louis, July 3.—An active campaign for former Governor J. W. Folk for president was launched here by the Missouri Democratic league. It will try to have the Missouri Democratic delegation to the national convention instructed for Folk for president. Lon Sanders is president and W. J. Cochran secretary of the league.

Relief for Hay.

Washington, July 3.—The weather bureau promises that this week will be one of moderate temperatures generally over the region west of the Mississippi river.

YOUR GRAY HAIRS QUICKLY VANISH

A Harmless Remedy, Made from Garden Sage, Restores Color to Gray Hair.

A feeling of sadness accompanies the discovery of the first gray hairs, which, unfortunately, are looked upon as heralds of advancing age. Gray hairs, however, are not always an indication of advancing age, for many people have gray hairs quite early in life. Of course, it is unnatural, and indicates that there is something wrong with the individual, and that Nature needs assistance in correcting the trouble. The same is true of hair that is constantly falling out and becoming thinner every day. If everything is right with Nature, the hair, even in comparatively elderly people, should be long, thick and glossy, without even a streak of gray.

The ideal assistant to Nature in restoring and preserving the hair is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a clean and wholesome dressing for daily use. It not only removes dandruff, but strengthens weak, thin and falling hair and promotes its growth. A few applications will restore faded or gray hair to its natural color.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agent, Koch Pharmacy.

The Best Advice on Lumber Costs the Least Money and when we say to prospective homebuilders that "now's the time to build" we are offering you really sound advice. No matter what you have heard about cheaper lumber, take it from us that you're on the safe side if you build right now. We haven't been in the lumber business for 6 years for nothing—we know a thing or two and we're willing to admit you do too, but in the face of all this talk nowadays about timber conservation we believe you'll agree that lumber has a fixed value and that by delaying the building of your new home you will gain nothing but inconvenience.

We believe we can convince you the above is good advice—let's talk it over.

THE JUNE WEATHER

1.03 INCHES OF RAIN FELL DURING JUNE.

THE DRIEST IN 21 YEARS

The Last Five Days the Temperature Has Been 100 and Over—103 Today.

The driest June in twenty-one years closed last Friday night at midnight with a total rainfall of 1.03 inches of rain in thirty days. The normal fall for June in Missouri is .68 inches. In the twenty-one years the government has kept reports the closest to the in 1892, when we had a rain of 1.38. The following is the rainfall for June for the past ten years: 1901, 4.9; 1902, 7.7; 1903, 2.45; 1904, 3.93; 1905, 3.85; 1906, 4.27; 1907, 7.12; 1908, 9.59; 1909, 9.76; 1910, 3.19; 1911, 1.03. These figures were obtained from J. R. Brink, weather observer for Maryville.

June was also a blisterner as to temperatures. On the 26th the mercury soared to 100 degrees. Also on last Thursday and Friday it was 100.

On Saturday, July 1, the thermometer registered 102, on Sunday 103, and on Monday 103.

The highest June in the twenty-one years the records have been kept was in 1901, when the mercury was 101. But take it in July of that year is where you find your hot weather. Commencing on July 9, 1901, the temperatures were as follows up to July 25, when it went up to 107: July 9, 102; July 10, 103; July 11, 101; July 13, 104; July 14, 103; July 15, 103; July 16, 102; July 17, 99; July 18, 97; July 19, 102; July 20, 105; July 21, 105; July 22, 106; July 23, 104; July 24, 107; July 25, 104.

The highest average temperature for June is this year.

MRS. MASTERS DIED SATURDAY NIGHT

Mrs. Woodford Masters passed away at 11:45 o'clock Saturday night at her home, 703 East Third street, after an illness dating from March 23, when she was stricken with paralysis at the home of Mrs. S. T. Gile, and was removed to her home the following day.

Mrs. Masters had improved some and was able to sit up in a chair, but the excessive heat of the last week was so weakening that she could not withstand its weakening effect.

The funeral services will be held at the home Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Lee Harrel of the First Baptist church. Burial in Miriam cemetery.

Mrs. Masters was a daughter of the late Dr. W. P. Moore, who was a well known physician of this city. Her mother and three sisters live in St. Joseph, one sister, Mrs. Anna Phillips, and a brother, George Moore, live in Texas, and another brother, Dr. Ed T. Moore lives in Oklahoma. Mrs. Masters is also survived by her husband and a daughter and a son, Miss Frankie Masters and William Masters, both living at home.

60 PEOPLE SICK WITH PTOMAINE POISONING

Sixty people living in Skidmore and near that town are suffering with ptomaine poisoning, having attended an ice cream social Friday evening at the Burr Oak Grove church, four and a half miles northwest of Skidmore. Dr. J. E. Pierpoint and Dr. Lee of Skidmore were called and nearly all of them were better Monday. There are two cases that are very bad, Miss Ruth Wright and Floyd Barrett.

MISS TOEL WILL CHRISTEN "SAINTS HIGHWAY"

At the dedication exercises of the "Saints Highway," on the afternoon of the Fourth, at 4 o'clock, at the corner of First and Main streets, near Holmes & Co.'s grocery store, Miss Browne Toel will christen the highway, a bottle of wine to be used. Postmaster S. R. Beech will make the dedication speech.

Visiting His Parents.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Campbell of St. Joseph are in Maryville to spend the Fourth with Mr. Campbell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Campbell. Mr. Campbell is in the employ of the Britannia wholesale house of St. Joseph.

Miss Katharine Helwig of the State Normal faculty went to Trenton Monday to visit over the Fourth with her mother and sister.

News of Society and Womens' Clubs

Miss Sadie Adams Married.

Miss Sadie Adams, a former Maryville girl, who was society reporter for the Maryville Republican, was married last week in Green Forest, Ark., to Ernest Baughman. Within a very short time the young couple will take a trip to Seattle, Wash., and on their way will stop off at Maryville for a visit. They will make their home at Seattle.

Surprise on His Birthday.

A surprise dinner was given to Dillard Green Sunday at his home, nine miles northeast of the city, it being his fifty-fourth birthday anniversary. A sumptuous feast was served and later in the afternoon ice cream and cake. The guests present were Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Crigger and children, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Pride and son, Fred; Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Dowden and daughter, Ethel; Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Dowden and daughter, Lula; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dowden and children, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Dowden and son, Franklin; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Campbell and daughter, Bernice; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Max Wood, Mrs. King, Edgar Hall, Mr. and Mrs. John Hollensbe and daughters, Mabel and Iola; Zelia, Jack, John and Charley Green.

Picnic at Craig's Lake.

The following party went to Craig lake Sunday afternoon and remained until after luncheon at 7 o'clock. They were Misses Mary and Grace O'Brien, Miss Mary McCall, Miss Nell Enoch, Miss Neila Thummel, Dr. C. N. Cline, James Felix, Erville Stafford, Frank Reavis and Mr. Jameson.

Missionary Society Meeting.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the First M. E. church will meet Thursday afternoon at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. G. DeLana, on South Main street.

Picnicked on River.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Godsey gave a picnic party Sunday in the woods east of town in honor of Mrs. Godsey's sister, Mrs. F. R. Adcock, and family of St. Joseph. All of the guests were relatives. In the evening the men of the party waded into the 102 river and caught forty pounds of fish in their hands and a great fish fry was enjoyed. The company included Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Adcock and sons, Bryce and Joe, of St. Joseph; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Townsend and Mrs. Townsend's father, J. C. Adcock; C. R. Adcock and sons, Coy and Clyde, and daughter, Miss Golda; Mrs. S. M. Smith and son, George, of Pickering; Mr. and Mrs. Godsey and their four children.

Entertained for Cousin.

Mrs. R. Bruce Montgomery and Miss Eva Rittenour entertained six tables of guests at dominoes Saturday afternoon, complimentary to their cousin, Miss Lela Mitchell of Colorado Springs, Col., who is visiting in the city, in company with her mother, Mrs. James Mitchell, who is a sister of Mrs. J. F. Montgomery and Mrs. M. M. Rittenour. The house decorations were in sweet peas of various colors. Miss Helen Strop won the game prize. The out-of-town guests included Miss Mitchell, the guest of honor; Miss Helen Strop and Miss Lillian Strop of St. Joseph, who are the guests of the J. F. Montgomery and Holmes families; Miss Margaret Beattie of Newport, Ark., the guest of Miss Mabel Allen, and Miss Iris Wilson of Lawson, Mo., who is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Orson Clark.

Former Maryville Boy Weds.

John W. Evans of St. Joseph, a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Evans, who were former residents of this city, was married Friday evening at 8 o'clock, June 28, to Miss Jessie Winter Philbrick of St. Joseph. At the same hour Addie Lee Philbrick, a sister of Mr. Evans' bride, was married to Emmett J. Taylor. The brides are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Philbrick of St. Joseph. Mr. Evans, who is in the employ of the Richardson wholesale house of that city, is a nephew of Mrs. J. F. Montgomery and Mrs. M. M. Rittenour of Maryville.

Miss Jessie Ladwig of St. Joseph arrived in Maryville Monday and is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Sanders.

Ferdinand M. Townsend is confined to his home on account of sickness.

Ex-Judge M. M. McGgettigan of near Clearmont was a city visitor Monday.

COALITION ENDED

INSURGENTS AND DEMOCRATS IN CONGRESS PARTED COMPANY.

$100,000 TO PUT ONE OVER

The Cost of a Senator Scientifically Figured Out as the Result of the Lorimer Investigation.

By VAN CLEVE.

Washington, D. C., June 30.—The close of June finds congress without a quorum. Many of the members in the nearby states and some of those farther away could not resist the temptation to join their families and friends in doing honor to the glorious Fourth. The employees under an economical administration will have to content themselves with such firework as may be observed in this city and the pyrotechnics at the north end of the capitol. The insurgents are furnishing a continuous fusillade over there now.

The coalition between Democrats and insurgents came to a sudden termination, as all expected. The only way to continue it was for the Democrats to agree to surrender all claim to the ownership of the reform measures before the senate from this time forward and surrender further patronage to the insurgents. The Democrats could retain speaking and voting interest in the bills, but the insurgents must adopt them, amend them, and when passed, be permitted to go back to the people and assert their title to them. This proposition was promptly accepted by the insurgents.

Incidentally the prospects of adjournment are improved. Every senator knows now perfectly well how he is going to vote on every one of the bills. The Democrats will do but little talking, being anxious to hasten a vote.

The standpatters have given up and conceded that the reciprocity bill will pass, and that being the case they don't care how it happens. They, too, will have but little more to say. That puts it squarely up to the insurgents, and there is no evidence that they can hold out half as long as they threatened. Senator Cummins has spoken several times this week, as has Senator Borah, and they are nearly out of ammunition. Senator LaFollette can be counted on for about four days on anything from a tariff on cocoanuts to an investigation of the lumber trust's connection with the north pole. Then Senator Bristow will have to be heard and the giant crackers will have been exploded. The others will be short in comparison.

This indicates that an early vote will be reached on the reciprocity bill and that it may be followed by early votes on some of the other bills before the senate. No bets, however, should be placed on any prophecy in connection with the United States senate, for all the kaleidoscopic contrivances ever produced to accomplish quick and unexpected changes are not in a class with it.

The Lorimer investigation is in full blast and is doing much to convince the public that there should be a change in the method of electing senators. It is bringing forcibly to view the methods being employed by the great capitalists of the present day to "protect" their interests. Manufacturers used to go before congress and plead for protection for their infant industries. Now the giant aggregations of adult industries go into the market and select and send to congress, whenever they can, their own representatives. When they get a sufficient number of them they do not have to ask for favors; they simply dictate their wants and they are promptly complied with.

The Payne-Aldrich law was written schedule by schedule by favored interests, and the old protective idea has degenerated into a mere scramble for spoils. It may cost a hundred thousand dollars "to put one over," as has been testified in the Lorimer case, a million, as has been shown in another notorious instance, but what care they for expenses? Mr. Hines, the lumber king, who is sorry that he boasted about "putting Lorimer over," testified yesterday that a few years ago he was a poor clerk in a lumber yard in Chicago; now he owns 60 per cent of the stock in a corporation whose assets are millions upon millions. A prominent merchant a few days ago remarked that the silk schedule of the present tariff law was written by a certain silk manufacturer of New York, and that on a certain kind of silk which has no competition in Japan or elsewhere the duty was so increased that the direct result has been that, with the cost of production practically the same, the wholesale price has been increased from 49 cents under the Wilson bill to 77 cents per yard under the present law. This firm makes thousands of yards per day, so that with an increased profit of 28 cents per yard it is easy to see what the difference means to them on this one item alone.

The investigation, although in progress but few days, has drawn some men in high places into unpleasant notoriety, and has developed enough conflicting testimony to warrant Senator Kenyon in saying that some one should be tried for perjury.

An example of how protection benefits the American workingman is found right in the capitol building, where so many tears have been shed for it and so many touching appeals have been made in its behalf. I notice that some of the furniture is imported. The cane seat chairs, for instance, in some rooms were made in Vienna, Austria. The duty on cane seat chairs is about 35 per cent. Furniture factories are plentiful in those states that send so many high tariff exponents to congress, yet some of these gentlemen have been patronizing the "pauper labor of Europe" in preference to the American workmen who helped to send them here.

The capitol corridors have been filled for weeks with pleasure seekers and sightseers, and the official guide is reaping a harvest that amounts to dignified proportions. It is a common thing to see a flock of twenty or twenty-five future greats, sweet girl graduates, proud parents and newly wedded trailing after a portly gentleman at twenty-five cents per head. All hands march to the center of a room and form in a circle around a hallowed spot marked by a stray piece of tile in the floor and then follow something like this: "This, ladies and gentlemen, is the exact spot where a great-great-grandson of Patrick Henry slipped on a banana peel and shattered his equilibrium, etc." All look knowingly at one another and with fear of disturbing the sacred memories, tip toe on to the next place, where something equally blood curdling is related.

In the streets there are numerous auto busses that carry two or three dozen at a load, and get a dollar and a half per head for the trip around the city. A deep voiced individual sits at the head of the bunch and gives every one $10 worth of information and entertainment besides the ride. Everything here is done with autos—drays, delivery wagons, ambulances, etc. Only the fewest number can afford horses.

The capitol is in session only a few minutes this morning and adjourned until Wednesday morning on account of the court stenographer, Harry Irwin, being unable to work today. The Linebaugh will case will probably be finished on Wednesday and will be given to the jury.

PROGRAM FOR FOURTH
AT NORMAL PARK

From 11 to 12 tomorrow morning exercises are to be held at the Normal grandstand for the Fourth. An address is to be given by Dr. J. S. Ford on the "Cosmopolitan Patriotism." The rest of the program is a short address by E. E. Bird, a Normal student; a declamation by James Farrar on "The Spirit of 1776;" a reading by Prof. Harry Miller of the department of public speaking; music by the Normal Glee club, under the direction of Prof. P. O. Landon.

The Normal building will be open to the public from 12 o'clock noon to 5 o'clock.

CITY WATER SUPPLY
IS GETTING LOW

Manager Roseberry said Monday to representative of this paper that the city water supply is getting very low, as the river is the lowest it ever has been. The water will give out in a few weeks or so unless we have rain before that time. The City Water company thinks it might be well for the people to be careful about the use of the city water.

KUCHS IN CHARGE OF EMPIRE THEATER

Albert Kuchs assumed charge of the Empire theater Monday, as William Hurt's lease on the theater had expired. Moving picture shows will be continued at the theater.

Brought Him to Hospital.
Clarence Charles, living nine miles southwest of Maryville, was taken to St. Francis hospital Monday morning for treatment by his physician, Dr. Leslie Dean.

S. D. Davison of Clearmont was in Maryville Monday on business. He was accompanied by his sister, Miss Belle Gray, who has been visiting him. Miss Gray left Monday evening for her home in Northern Oklahoma, near Honeywell, Kan.

Mrs. Mary Shannon of Guilford returned home Monday from a business visit in the city since Thursday. She was the guest of her brother, Richard McMullen and other relatives.

Miss Betty Gross of Union Star, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Simpson, returned to her home Monday.

Mrs. Charles Dean and daughter, Clelia, of Burlington Junction, are the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Leslie Dean and Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Dean.

Mrs. J. H. Aley left Monday for Falls City, Neb., to visit her cousin, Mrs. Jack Wilson.

The visitors came at this time to meet Mrs. Andrews' father-in-law and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Andrews of Chipley, Fla., who are here visiting their son, W. W. Andrews, and family, living three miles southwest of Maryville, and Mrs. Andrews' sister, Mrs. W. W. Jackson. They will go from here to Red Oak, Ia., to visit their daughter, Mrs. John Baxter, formerly Miss Carrie Andrews of this city, and later to Pueblo, Colo., to visit another daughter, Mrs. Luther Stratton, also formerly of Maryville.

To Take Trip to the East.

Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Clark and little son of Chillicothe are in Maryville for a few days' visit. Mr. and Mrs. Clark will leave the last of the week for a month's pleasure trip to the east, going by way of Chicago and then by boat to Buffalo. They will also visit New York, Washington and many other places. Their little son will remain in the city with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Clark.

Returned from Wyoming.

Dr. Vilas Martin and W. R. Smiley returned Monday from a few weeks' outing and fishing trip in the region of Cody, Wyo.

Dr. Rolla Allender of Boone, Ia., is in Maryville for a vacation visit with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Allender, and his brother, Dr. Lafe Allender.

Mrs. J. H. Woodburn and little son, Maurice, of East Fourth street, and her sisters, Miss Bertha Hale, a student at the State Normal, visited in Barnard over Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hale.

Rev. Father Anselm spent Monday in St. Joseph on business.

Miss Minnie Reece of Elmo is the guest of Miss Velma Gray.

The counties with claims against the good road funds of the state have nobody but Governor Hadley to blame for not getting their money. The legislature made ample provisions for paying these claims, but the governor swung his axe, and the counties are left with the bag to hold. For instance, Monroe county has a claim of $9,423.70 against this fund, but the way Hadley has fixed the matter up it will get only $218 of it this year. The governor's hobby is good roads—cross state highways on paper for advertising purposes only. That is, he is for good roads just like he is for home rule—talks for it until he gets it, then kills it with his veto.

EARTHQUAKE IN SAN FRANCISCO

Two Dead and Number Injured
as Result of Shock.

PROPERTY DAMAGE IS SLIGHT.

Two Shocks of Trembler Felt Lasting More Than Twenty Seconds—Small Panic at the Theaters—Large Buildings Shaken Out of Plumb.

San Francisco, July 3.—Two men are known to be dead and several injured as the result of an earthquake which visited San Francisco, the worst since the memorable quake of April, 1906. There were two violent shocks, quick in succession, lasting more than twenty seconds.

So far as known no serious damage was done in San Francisco other than falling plastering and the breaking of many plate glass windows.

Herbert Hadley was so badly frightened that he died in an ambulance while being taken to the Emergency hospital.

Emil Anderson, a barber, who was brought to the hospital for the possible fracture of the skull, died a few minutes after the trembler, which snuffed out the slim chance for life he had before.

The Academy of Science building on Market street is leaning forward more than a foot from its original position, as a result of the quake. The Marine Trust and Savings company's building is also reported to have been moved by the shock.

Panic at the Theaters.

A small panic occurred at several of the theaters, people scrambling over each other in their haste to get out of the buildings.

Robert Dawson, a waiter, had his arm badly gashed when he ran into a plate glass window in trying to escape from the Buckingham cafe. He was taken to a hospital and is said to be seriously injured.

At the printing plant of the Hick-Judd company several girls became hysterical and one, Mamie Garrity, had to be taken to a hospital after several other girls had prevented her from jumping from the top floor of the building.

Practically all of the clocks in the city were stopped as well as elevators.

The Palace hotel, which was opened less than two years ago, suffered slight damage. A large crack may be seen high in the new building on the Market street front. The Flood building, the Postal Telegraph building, the Pacific building and scores of others were either cracked or shaken out of plumb.

The main postoffice building was badly damaged and several of the employees were slightly bruised and otherwise injured by falling plaster from the ceilings on the different floors.

BENCH WARRANTS FOR TWO

State Department to Aid Burns in Bringing Kaplan and Schmidt Back.

Washington, July 3.—District Attorney John D. Frederick of Los Angeles was a visitor to the state department and had a conference with Secretary of State Knox.

The object of the conference was to enlist the aid of the state department for Detective W. J. Burns, who went to England a couple of weeks ago on the trail of David H. Kaplan and Milton A. Schmidt, wanted in connection with the Los Angeles dynamite outrages.

Mr. Frederick was assured of the hearty co-operation of government officials and that the assurances were meant in earnest was evidenced by the fact that bench warrants for the arrest of the men wanted were issued by the London authorities and all the resources of the English police will be at the disposal of Burns in locating and arresting the men he wants.

Fall of Scaffold Fatal.

Monticello, Ia., July 3.—Two killed and two badly injured is what it has cost in lives and broken bones to partly build a large barn on the Peter Kirk farm. Following the tragic death of the carpenter, who was killed last week, a scaffold fell forty feet with three workmen. John Featherstone, aged seventy-seven years, was killed and John Kinney and Will Golden, his fellow workmen, were badly injured.

A Patriot's Ruse

By CAPTAIN F. A. MITCHEL

WHEN the war of independence came on, New York's population had changed itself to pipe smoking Britishers to comprise many people of refinement. It was then that that society in which Alexander Hamilton and Aaron Burr shone ten or twenty years after was forming. People had begun to sit down on their tables instead of pewter and social dinners were quite pretentious.

One Nicholas Van Schoenhoven, a wealthy citizen, built in his house in the village of Greenwich (long since a part of the city of New York) a vault in which to store his valuable tableware. It was located in the second story in a hallway running past his bedroom. Van Schoenhoven was a patriot, and when in the struggle for independence the British occupied New York he moved to Westchester county, some fifteen or twenty miles up the Hudson river, within the American lines commanded by young Lieutenant Colonel Aaron Burr. Before the evacuation he returned to the city to be near his real estate, leaving his movable valuables in Westchester county.

Edith Van Schoenhoven while in Westchester met a young Lieutenant in Burr's regiment, Charles Robertson, and the meeting had resulted in a love match. The separation when she went back to the city was very trying to a pair of lovers aged twenty-two and nineteen respectively. Though but a few miles apart, they were still very far. Robertson stood the separation a month, then, putting on a countryman's clothes and carrying a large basket containing butter, eggs and other farm produce, he set out for New York.

At King's bridge, a wooden structure spanning Spuyten Duyvil creek and connecting Manhattan Island with the mainland, he found the British pickets. His farm produce passed him, and he walked to the southwest end, crossing diagonally what is now Central park and made toward the Hudson tower down till he came to the village of Greenwich. As he was crossing a field where the Columbus monument now stands one Peter Oldershaw, a rabid Tory, saw and followed him. Unaware that he was watched, Lieutenant Robertson knocked at the door of Nicholas Van Schoenhoven, showed his basket of produce and was admitted. This Oldershaw saw and straightway walked down to Green-Wood, where he found General Howe, to whom he reported the fact. The general sent a small troop commanded by a sergeant to capture the young patriot, whom he did not doubt had come into his lines for the purpose of spying.

Charles Robertson and Edith Van Schoenhoven were sitting together in the parlor, where they could look out on the broad Hudson, when they saw a dozen redcoat troopers dash up and surround the house. For a moment Edith was paralyzed; then, suddenly gathering her faculties, she seized her lover's hand, ran with him upstairs and, opening the vault door, thrust him in, closing the door after him, locking it and putting the key in her pocket. She was too excited to think of his being smothered, but fortunately a small ventilator had been left over the door.

When the sergeant entered Edith had recovered her equanimity so far as to meet him with a well feigned look of surprise on her face and invited him to search the house. Not finding any one, he left the premises guarded by his men and rode to General Howe. Howe, believing that the Lieutenant was there, sent Captain Sawyer with his company to release the sergeant and to take up his quarters in the house, keeping it surrounded for the purpose, she dared not transgress when the captain was in the house for fear of his catching her at it.

One night when the bell on Trinity church, far away on the lower end of the island, struck 1 Edith arose from her bed, put on a dressing sack, went to the vault, unlocked it, let her lover out, took him up to the third story and locked him in an unused room. Then, going down to Captain Sawyer's room, she knocked at his door, calling to him that she had been frightened by a huge black cat that had got into the house and asking him to drive it out. "Don't trouble yourself to put on your clothes," she said; "use this." And, opening the door a few inches, she dropped a double gown of her father's into the room.

Sawyer arose, put on his boots and the double gown, seized the only weapon handy, his sword, and went out into the hall. There he found Edith, apparently very much frightened. She had lighted a candle and conducted him along the hall to the vault, whose door stood ajar.

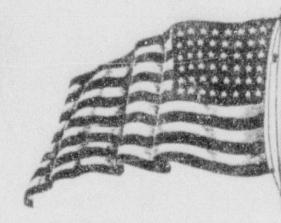

"There—the horrid thing went in there!" she almost shrieked.

Sawyer boldly entered the vault. In a second he heard a click behind him. He was a prisoner.

Running to the room where she had left her lover, Edith released him and led him to Sawyer's apartment, where the Yankee put on the Britisher's uniform, went downstairs and

MRS. T. P. SHONTS ASKS SEPARATION

Has Papers Served on Former Panama Canal Head.

Paris, July 3.—Mrs. Theodore P. Shonts, wife of the president of the Interborough Rapid Transit company of New York city and of other railroads, has caused papers to be served on her husband in a separation suit, according to G. Archibald, an attorney who is now in this city, and says he has been retained by Mrs. Shonts and is in consultation with her at the home of her daughter, Duchesse de Chaulnes.

Archibald refused to discuss the details of the disagreement of Mrs. Shonts with her husband, but was particular to specify that the proceeding was not a petition for an absolute divorce, but was merely for separate maintenance and freedom from marital obligations.

Misses Mollie and Lou Henderson spent Sunday in Barnard with their cousin, Mrs. Sarah Chiser.

Mrs. A. J. Anderson of Grand avenue has returned from a visit to her old home in Blandinsville, Ill.

Flora E. Finley was appointed by Probate Judge Coon administrator of the estate of W. D. Finley, who died recently at his home in Parnell.

Mrs. R. L. Graves of Kirk, Col., who has been visiting in Maryville for two months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ham, and her sisters, Mrs. Will J. Toel and Mrs. Elmer Fraser, left for her home Monday morning.

An illustrated lecture will be given tonight on "The Book of Revelation" at the Adventist tent, on East Second street.

MAY PROVE FATAL.

When Will Maryville People Learn the Importance of it?

Backache is only a simple thing at first;

But when you know 'tis from the kidneys;

That serious kidney troubles follow;

That diabetes, Bright's disease may be the fatal end.

You will gladly profit by the following experience.

'Tis the honest statement of a sufferer who was cured.

D. F. Beagle, R. F. D. No. 6, Savannah, Mo., says: "My kidneys and bladder were badly disordered and I suffered greatly from dull pains in the small of the back, often extending into my neck. Since using Doan's Kidney Pills I have had much less trouble from my back and kidneys and I have regained my lost strength. I intend to keep a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills on hand all the time, as I know that they are an excellent kidney remedy."

HEAT IS TRYING ON FAT STATESMEN

Hot Weather Interferes With Legislation at Washington.

FIX DATE FOR COTTON REVISION

Rainey of Illinois to Be a Teacher, Bringing Samples Into House and Giving Descriptions of Cloth as Set Forth in Tariff Bill.

Washington, July 3.—"How many pounds have you lost?" That is the question which has superceded the inquiry concerning the probable date of vote on the reciprocity treaty in Washington since the hot wave struck the national capital.

It is said President Taft weighed just before he left for Beverly, and the scales showed him ten pounds lighter than he was two weeks ago. The president is said to have seriously considered postponing his trip to his summer home when he realized his lessening waist measurement.

Vice President Sherman, Speaker Champ Clark, Senator Boile Penrose, Ollie James, Postmaster General Hitchcock and practically all of those statesmen who are inclined to embark on finding compensation for the work and the fearfully hot weather is slowly contracting waist lines.

Southern Men Stand Heat.

The Democrats bear up under the heat better than the Republicans, most of the Democrats coming from the south and being acclimated to the heat as it were. In fact, the house Democrats are actually planning as though they were thoroughly contented to stay on through the whole summer. For instance, when they bring in their revision of the cotton schedule to the house, they intend to start a school of instruction for the benefit of Republicans and Democrats alike.

Representative Rainey (Ill.) will be one of the teachers. Rainey proposes to bring cotton samples pasted on cardboard with the official description of the cloth as set forth in the tariff bill, indicated below it.

In addition the information will contain the rates of duty imposed upon this cloth under the Dingley and Payne laws, and under the proposed Democratic revisions. This method of illustration was practiced by the Republicans in the senate in the 1909 tariff debate. Rainey may have some extra samples with him for general distribution among the members in order that they may follow his arguments.

Estimating Amount of Revenue.

As to the revised cotton schedule itself, the Democrats now have experts in the treasury at work estimating the amount of revenue certain proposed rates of duty will produce. They have finished the actual bill except for the insertion of these rates.

If the present plans of the Democratic leaders are carried out, the cotton revision bill will not reach the house until the second week in July. If the bill is completed in time it may be possible to hold a party caucus on it the latter part of this week.

In all probability it will take about ten days' time to pass the bill through the house. Meanwhile the Democrats will busy themselves with the sugar and steel schedules, with the intention of bringing them before the house later if the senate persists in its present rate of legislative progress.

CANDY ENDS MUTINY

Officials of California Reformatory for Girls Bring About Order.

Whittier, Cal., July 3.—Chocolate candy and oranges played an important part in ending the mutiny which broke out in the state reformatory for girls here. Ten pounds of chocolate candy and a cartload of oranges caused the seventy-six girls who composed the mutiny to surrender their arms, following a rebellion which left them in almost complete charge of the school. However, eight of the leaders of the mutiny are in the county jail here.

The girl rebels claim the rioting and mutiny was due to poorly cooked food and inhuman treatment on the part of the management.

Officials of the reformatory, however, say the trouble was started by a recent arrival at the institution who, when she attempted to escape, was locked up. Much furniture and many windows of the institution were smashed by the riotous girls.

ROOSEVELT HARVESTS HAY

Crop Is Good, With Enough for Himself and Perhaps Some for Neighbors.

New York, July 3.—Brown as a berry, with callousness on his hands and the scent of new mown hay about him, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt looks every inch a farmer these days. He is getting in his hay crop at Sagamore Hill, directing the work in person, doing his full share of it, and incidentally having the time of his life.

If the colonel is taking any interest in politics, public affairs or anything except his hay crop, he is keeping it to himself, for he declines to discuss anything else for publication. He will make hay enough to supply his own needs and may have some left to sell his less successful neighbors.

EUGENE F. WARE PASSES AWAY

Dies Suddenly from Heart Disease at Cascade, Colo.

WITH FIRST IOWA IN CIVIL WAR

United States Pension Commissioner Under President Roosevelt—Gained Fame by Verses Under Pen Name of "Ironquill."

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 3.—Eugene F. Ware, "Ironquill," the famous Kansas poet, United States pension commissioner under President Roosevelt, and one of the best known lawyers in the west, died suddenly from heart disease at Cascade, Colo.

In addition to his widow, Mrs. Jeanette Ware, and daughter, Miss Amelia Ware, the only members of the family with him in Colorado, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Neiss of New York city and Mrs. Ralph Nelson, who lives in Idaho. A married son, E. F. Ware, Jr., recently gave up the practice of law to settle with his father on his big farm near Fort Scott, Kan. The body will be taken to Fort Scott, where the funeral will be held.

Eugene F. Ware was born in Hartford, Conn., May 29, 1841, and when young moved to Iowa with his parents. When nineteen years old he joined the First Iowa volunteer regiment on the day Fort Sumter was fired upon, and served throughout the civil war. He was mustered out as captain of the Seventh Iowa cavalry. After the close of the war Mr. Ware moved to Fort Scott and later went to Cherokee country. After being admitted to the bar he returned to Fort Scott, where he began to practice. He moved to Topeka in 1893. He served five terms in the Kansas senate and was appointed commissioner of pensions by President Roosevelt in 1902. He resigned two years later. As "Ironquill" Mr. Ware became famous for short poems.

TAFT NAMES CHARLTON JUDGE

Father of Porter Charlton Gets Judicial Office in Porto Rico.

Washington, July 3.—Paul Charlton of Nebraska was nominated by the president to be United States judge for the District of Porto Rico. Judge Charlton has for many years been connected with the state department, recently being law officer of the bureau of insular affairs. Judge Charlton, it is said, was originally appointed to the office while a resident of Omaha. He was a classmate of President Taft at Yale in 1878. In making this appointment and crediting the same to the state of Nebraska, the president did not consult Senator Brown or any member of the Nebraska delegation.

Judge Charlton is the father of Porter Charlton, now in custody at Hoboken, N. J., upon the charge of killing his wife at Lake Como, Italy. If the present plans of the Democratic leaders are carried out, the cotton revision bill will not reach the house until the second week in July. If the bill is completed in time it may be possible to hold a party caucus on it the latter part of this week.

In all probability it will take about ten days' time to pass the bill through the house. Meanwhile the Democrats will busy themselves with the sugar and steel schedules, with the intention of bringing them before the house later if the senate persists in its present rate of legislative progress.
